SPRINGTIME

By: Will Lapp

Last evening while raking in the lawn,

I came upon some grass and leaves Dried and brown from days gone by,
Ready to stack for a bonfire high.

But underneath the green young shoots,

Came peering up with life anew,
To let us know that Spring is here,
And Summer too is very near.

The Month of June is on its way,
With days all bright and sunny,
And pretty flowers here and there,
To help the bees make honey.

This is to say that Spring is here, With love and joy and work and cheer,
And soon all natures' children we'll see,
Fighting the battle of life to be.

Once again, I would like to thank everyone for their acceptance and patience with the AARP Tax-Aide volunteers. The folks using our facility are here to assist our community and provide this service that is much needed. ~Charlene
